GenTent® Installation Addendum for Square Vertical Frame Posts

GenTent® has updated the design of its rubber sleeves to accommodate squared vertical frame posts. This addendum provides the necessary adjustments to install the GenTent on these posts.

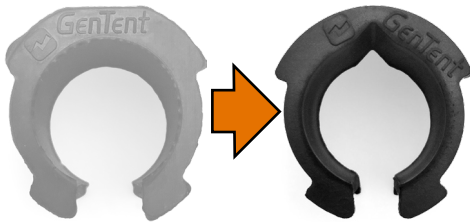

Fig. A - New Rubber Sleeves with Notched Position

1. Place the notched rubber sleeve around the squared corner with the mouth facing out, just below the electric panel. (Fig. B)
2. Firmly push the clamp mouth onto the frame leg below the sleeve, then bring it up and over the sleeve. (Fig. C)

Fig. C - Clamp mouth slid up and over the Rubber Sleeve

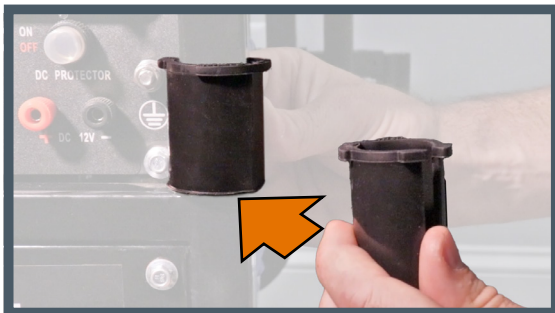

Fig. D - Rubber Sleeves placed higher, at inset panel

3. Tighten the clamp knob until it applies surface pressure, then turn it two more full turns for proper pressure.

4. For blocked panels (e.g., some DuroMax models), place the clamp assembly slightly higher where the electric panel is inset (Fig. D).

- 4a. Face the mouth of the rubber sleeve inwards to fit the blocked panel.

- 4b. Match the height with the clamp on the opposite corner to keep the canopy offset but level across the width. (Fig. E).

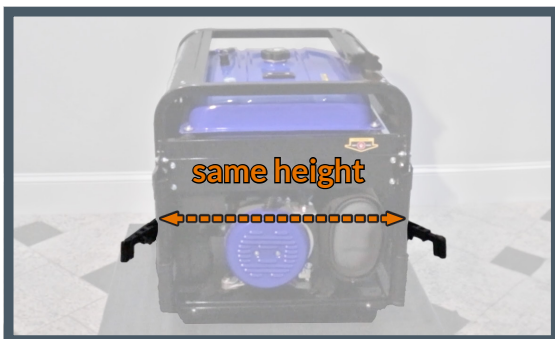

Fig. E - Clamp height consistent along the width of the generator

The remaining frame rods and GenTent® Installation will continue along the steps of the standard GenTent® Installation Manual, although possibly slightly offset on one side.
